To Whom it May Concern:

I am providing a character reference for Willow Green.

I had the good fortune of meeting Willow, my neighbor, after suffering a heart attack in February. Since August of 2022, Willow has provided both emotional support and physical care which has been invaluable in my recovery.

Her professionalism and work ethic are exemplary. She has been staying in my home during this recovery period and has proven to be a great companion as well as superlative healer.

I highly recommend her services for senior companionship. Her positive and uplifting personality will help many who struggle with challenges in their senior years. She is an expert in applying her analytical skills in sizing up what the patient needs both physically and emotionally. I trust her implicitly.

Sincerely,

Anthony Pav,

Retired US Government

To Whom It May Concern:

I was taking care of my husband myself for over 2 years when I opened up to help. Through a referral we found Willow Green. She joined our team 3 months before the passing of Bob, my husband.

Choosing Willow was the best decision we could have made. She was like an extension of our family going above and beyond her role willing to do whatever it takes. Willow is different and worth taking the time to interview if you have a loved one who needs care.

Some of the things that impressed me the most was her honesty, dependability and how obliging she was. We feel so blessed to have had Willow at such a difficult time and highly recommend her.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Karolyn Smith

To Whom it May Concern,

I would highly recommend employment for Willow Green.

While my husband was dying, he wanted to stay at home. He was in hospice care for medication support. As a retired RN, I chose to physically care for him myself.

There came a point when he was in need of total care and I was no longer physically able to do so without help. Willow was that helper. She was caring, empathetic, patient, respectful toward both of us. She was able to provide the physical help necessary, adapting to our routine.

I found her to be competent with the help needed (turning, positioning, bathing, changing bedding together, feeding him). She also provided some physical and relaxing relief to his aching body. (And mine!)

I got to a point when I was just not interested in eating, not hungry, then a plate of food was put in front of me. (She is a pretty good cook!) She was willing to do what was needed: errands, housework, laundry, cooking, Dr. visits, etc. She was continually responsible, disciplined and functioned with integrity.

I am so grateful for the help she provided. I simply could not have done it alone.

Sincerely,

Lin, RN

Greetings:

Going on three years, I've known Willow Green. Compassionate, authentic, and gracious are just three of the adjectives that capture her (with a generous sprinkle of humor). Of note, also, is Willow's ability to "read" people. She utilizes this gift to productively work with vulnerabilities and strengths - significant assets in a caregiver.

At the age of seventy-two, I continue to inadequately prepare for my fitness exercises. Chronic pain and limited range-of motion are the consequences. Two weeks ago, I asked Willow to apply her skills. The perceptions and recommendations were insightfully and respectfully conveyed - once again I was the beneficiary of able mentoring and eclecticism (nutrition, yoga, psychology).

I highly recommend Willow Green.

Sincerely,

David Franzblau, MD.
